

WATANEYA SOCIETY
QUALITY OF LIFE FOR EVERY ORPHAN

2019 Annual Report

From the heart

My message this year is to every young man and woman without parental care.

God has put your love in my heart, the same way we plant seeds into fertile soil and nurture and water them for days, until they blossom and bear the most beautiful fruits that enrich and satisfy our souls.

Throughout my years of working with youth, I had a lot of heart-warming experiences with you. To me, these experiences were like a gentle hand patting my shoulder to let me know that I was on the right track.

Some of you already know their path and have a plan for the future. Meanwhile, some of you are still battling their way through life and looking for a safe place to land. You are all my heroes and you have my utmost respect and appreciation.

My advice to you is to persevere, work diligently, be patient, and embrace life.

So, do what you can and work hard to be an honorable example to all youth. May God empower you to advance the alternative care system in Egypt.

Wataneya and I will always be your allies and supporters

Our Vision & Mission

Create a future of equal opportunities for children and youth without parental care, through unifying the standards and applying all aspects of care and services in the alternative care.

Our Values

We believe that we are ambassadors of humanity. We believe that a little optimism can go a long way, which is why we like to keep a positive attitude in everything we do, both at Wataneya and in our lives. Hence, positivity and belief in human values is the basis of our values, which set the foundation of all workers and volunteers' relationships with each other and with our partners. Our four core values:

Effective Communication

We cooperate and work towards mutual goals and values, through clear and transparent communication we build positive relationships built on mutual trust and respect.

Ownership and Accountability

We take responsibility towards tasks and results through exerting our best effort and regularly following up on our work to accomplish the desired outcomes.

Perseverance and Professionalism

We strive to achieve our goals through constant research and continuous development of our knowledge and skills and commitment to the application of professional practices.

Innovative Thinking

We seek to provide innovative solutions and apply new ideas to deepen the impact of achieving our goals.

Our Strategic Objectives

Institutional Homes

Empower institutional homes to apply the quality standards of alternative care

Caregivers

Develop the caregiver profession to become an attractive, prestigious and accredited profession

Youth

Participate with the institutions in developing role models of orphans, spread success stories to change the societal perspective of orphans

Monitoring & Evaluation

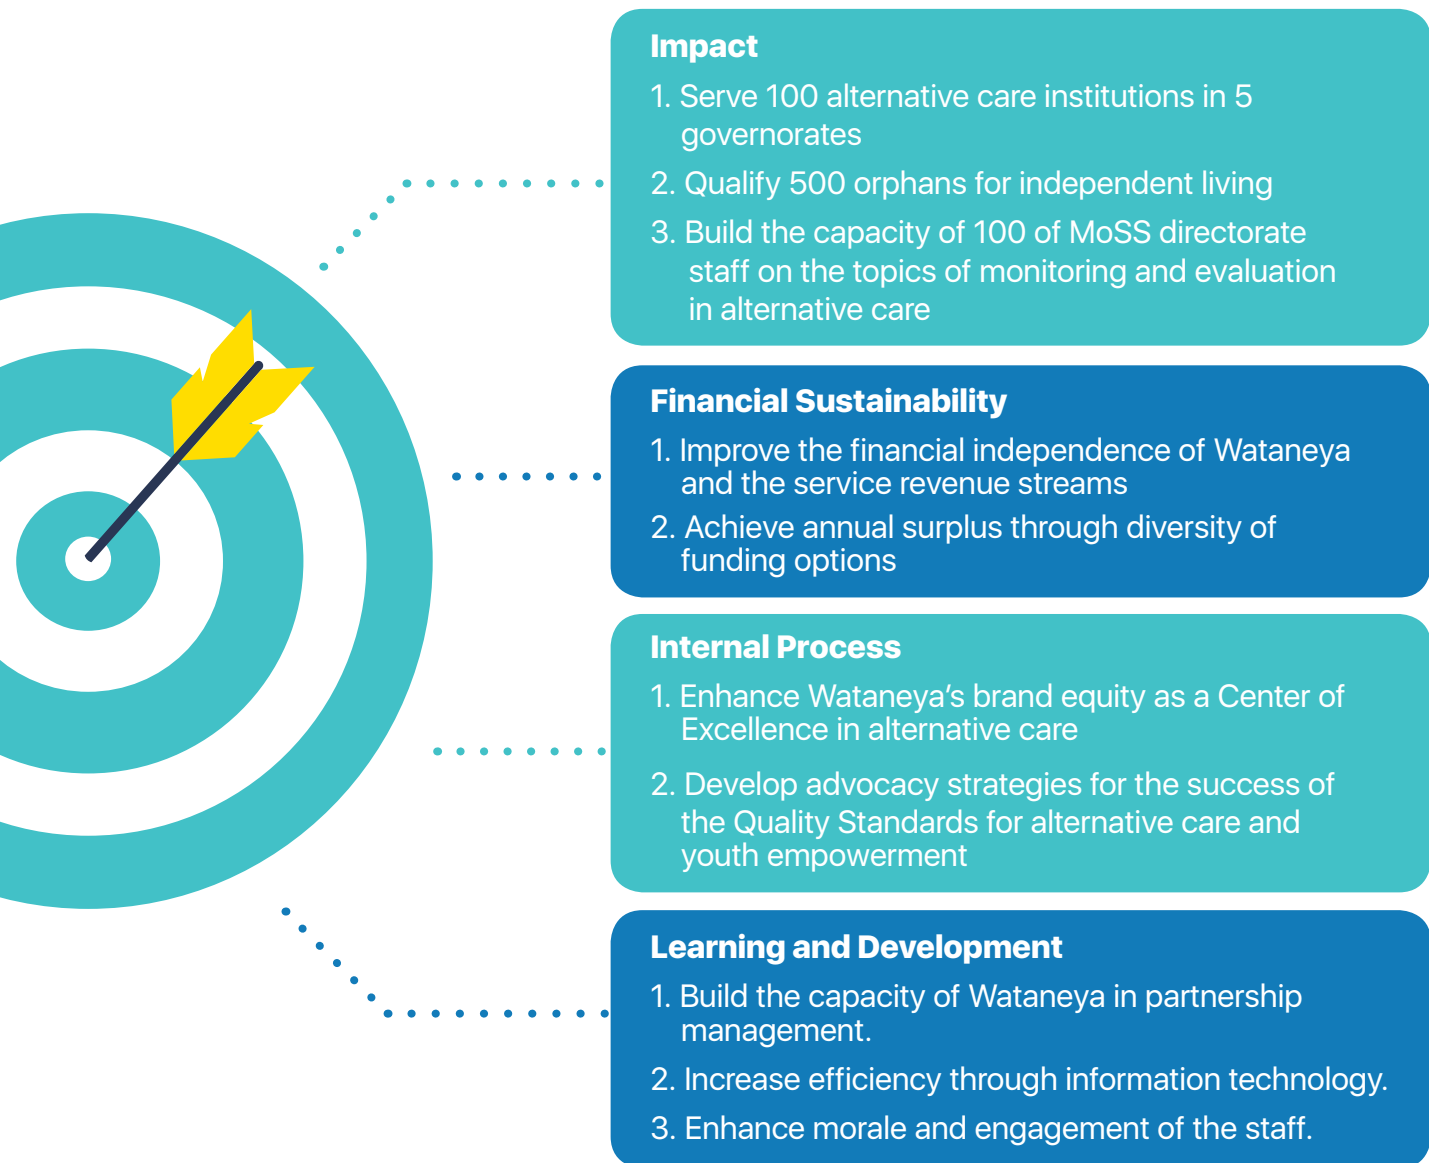

Develop effective monitoring and evaluation system within the alternative care sector

Wataneya's Strategy 2020 – 2023

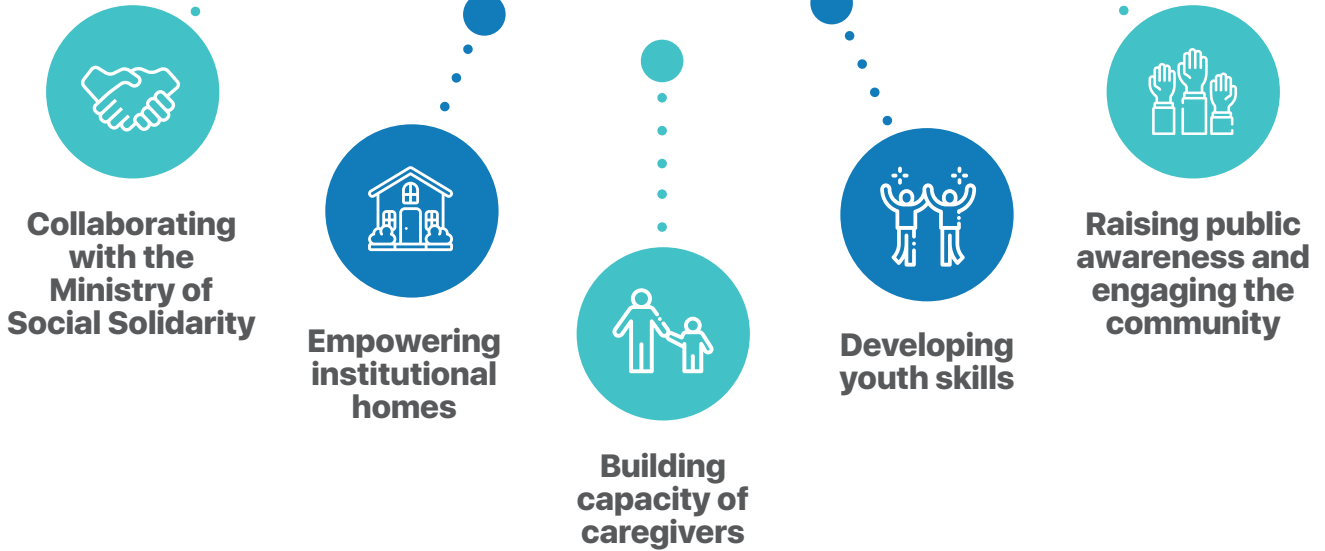

In collaboration with “Fekra” consulting and with the participation of its partners, Wataneya evaluated the past three years in terms of implementing the its 2023 Strategy and reviewing the SMART objectives for the coming four years 2020-2023.

We seek expanding Wataneya’s work in the governorates through the Care Leaver’s Independence Program, in cooperation with the Ministry of Social Solidarity and the Drosos Foundation. This is in addition to developing the alternative families’ system in cooperation with members of the High Committee for Alternative Families at the Ministry of Social Solidarity.

Institutional Homes

Empower institutional homes to apply the quality standards

The goal contributes to achieving Sustainable Development Goals

Providing quality protection for children in 3 governorates

With support from the Canadian Fund for the Support of Local Initiatives, we cooperated with the Ministry of Social Solidarity in order to apply the Protection Kit of empowerment for institutional homes. The Kit includes protecting children, intervening and dealing with cases of abuse, and acting effectively in a systematic and scientific manner. This is achieved through the implementation of project "Protecting them is our Responsibility" "Hemayatihom Masolyatena".

Launching a project: Applying Quality Standards and developing the education management system in cooperation with Al-Fanar Foundation

Al-Fanar is the first Arab institution aspiring to change the concept of philanthropy into an investment charitable work by converting beneficiaries into investors.

Al-Fanar's investment with Wataneya is manifested in a form of partnership aimed at achieving financial sustainability by working on the development of a four-year strategic business plan in cooperation with Acumen Consulting.

Wataneya society has evaluated four institutions in Greater Cairo based on quality standards. It has provided a program to promote the development of children's learning in institutional homes as well as a program of best professional practices for managing institutions. These programs are aimed at achieving the best interest of children and enhancing the role of caregivers in institutions.

Professional Qualification for Caregivers at Banati Foundation "Abnaa Al Ghad"

The ongoing collaboration between Wataneya society and "Abnaa Al Ghad" "Banati" Foundation is in the form of a partnership to improve the competency of workers, which has a positive impact on the best interest of children.

The partnership included providing training programs aimed at:

- Providing Caregivers with basic skills for child development and care
- The basics of positive parenting
- Preparing appropriate activities for the child and ensuring his protection and safety

The efficiency of 103 caregivers has been raised through

Providing 8 training days on the basics of childcare

Providing 5 training days on child protection - first level

Providing 12 training days on childcare, from pregnancy and child-birth to 12 years of age

Sanad Forum for Alternative care "the first forum of its kind for Caregivers"

The forum aims to create a space to share experiences and transfer best practices between founders, managers, Caregivers and children without parental care. It also aims to strengthen communication between these parties.

The ninth session of the Sanad forum was titled "Caregiver (Science - Rehabilitation - Stability)".

The role of caregiver in the rehabilitation and transition-to-independence process of aftercare

How to provide psychological support programs to employees within the institution

Laws and regulations regarding the working conditions of caregivers inside institutions

Mechanisms for caregiver sustainability and for maintaining constructive communication with children and youth

The forum was attended by 33 institutions and 50 individuals – including directors, founders and caregivers. The following was discussed

Launching "Beit El Helm" Award for the best institutional homes - 3rd Round

Application was opened for the 2019/2020 (third Round) "Beit El Helm" Award for the best institutions applying the Quality Standards Of Alternative Care or the best institutions applying one of the axes of the Quality Standards Of Alternative Care in Egypt.

The first phase in the screening of application forms of applying institutions has been completed and field visits have commenced.

"Beit El Helm" Award is a cash and in-kind award (specialized training programs) launched by Wataneya in April 2015 at a press conference, in the presence of the former Minister of Social Solidarity, Ghada Wali. This is in collaboration with the Drosos Foundation and MBC's Hope Foundation, which is focused on the social responsibility of the MBC Group.

A training program for workers dealing with children at risk

Amaan Learning and Development Centre hosted Dr. Iman Gad, Dean of the Faculty of Education at the British University in Dubai in order to provide a training program for those dealing with children at risk.

The Program included:

- Sex education training which aims to provide an understanding of the sexual behaviors of children in general, especially those features related to improper sexual behavior as well as the difference between features and functions of the behavior. This was done by studying samples of those behaviors and identify signs of exposure to abuse. The training also covered how to intervene optimally during guiding and educating children about the concept of sexual harassment and means of protection.
- Positive parenting training which aims to clarify the most important positive foundations, building relationships, understanding positive emotions, and designing a plan to support positive behavior.

The program was attended by representatives of 8 institutional homes,
in addition to some members of
Wataneya's staff

Graduation of new round of professionally qualified caregivers

Wataneya celebrated the graduation of new round of caregivers from Amaan Center for Learning and Development. The event included the graduation of:

- The sixth round of the advanced program for caregivers, which aims to create a cadre of qualified professionals who are able to work in orphanages. The program included 19 trainees from various institutional homes, and 5 cadres from the Ministry of Social Solidarity. During a period of 10 months, a trainee studied observation methods, their importance, growth-related theories, and how to promote child development.
- The third round of "Hamzat Wasl" path for qualifying new graduates to work in orphanages.

Graduate of the caregivers' program

The ceremony was attended by:

- Canadian Consul David Watt

Aftercare project in collaboration with The Drosos Foundation

What happens after children in care homes turn 18 years old and must leave as required by law?

Can our children in care homes become self-reliant and take serious steps to make a successful transition to independent living?

Hence comes the importance of cooperating with the Drosos Foundation in order to launch the Care-leavers independence project for children and youth without parental care in orphanages in Cairo, Giza and Dakahlia governorates.

"Sanad Conference" 1st Regional Conference on Aftercare

In April of 2019, in partnership with the Ministry of Social Solidarity and under the auspices of the League of Arab States, Wataneya organized the "Sanad" Conference for Alternative Care. This conference aims to improve the aftercare systems and services in the Arab world through exchanging experiences and highlighting the best repeatable practices. This goal helps in strengthening the integration of care home leavers in their societies, which starts the process of preparing the child for independence and self-reliance from a young age.

Youth Forum

Starting with a belief in the ability of youth to have an important role in changing reality for the better, Wataneya launched the "Youth Forum for Care-leavers", in December 2017.

Provide a safe environment for sharing experiences and building relationships

Empowering youth to be effective in society and toward the cause

Discussing challenges and sharing solutions

Conveying the voice of youth to the appropriate authorities

In 2019, 16 workshops were held with various topics presented by specialists in many fields such as:

Session: "The Role of Art in Supporting the Cause of Orphaned Youth", moderated by writer and novelist Ahmed Murad with the aim of encouraging young people to discover their talents and persevere in the process of self-actualization.

Workshop: "Communication & Presentation Skills", moderated by Dr. Heba Morsi, lecturer in the Department of Public Relations and Advertising, Faculty of Mass Communication, Cairo University.

Workshop: "What is our responsibility towards ourselves and our society", moderated by Ahmed Al-Ibiari, founder and CEO of Intellect, and Radwi Al-Sheikh, human resources consultant

A “Storytelling” session “How to tell our stories”, moderated by Mariam Faraj, journalist at MBC Hope. Session aimed at training youth on how to tell their stories and share their experiences.

Session, “Mini Ted Talks”, youth presentations on self-development stories, presented by three youth from SOS Jordan.

Wataneya collaboration with

"Alashanek Ya Balady" Association for enabling youth to design and implement their own projects

Wataneya is collaborating with the "Alashanek Ya Balady" Association through the Sanad Fund in order to support small projects for young men and women without parental care, from 18 to 35 years of age. The collaboration aims to provide technical and financial support to the projects above in order to improve the standard of living in Cairo and Giza governorates.

An introductory session was held for youth representatives from 11 care homes in 3 governorates.

Five projects were funded such as Minimarket, PlayStation, photography, candy cart

جمعية عشانك يا بلدي
للتنمية المستدامة

Skills Development Bank

The collaboration with the Skills Development Bank aims to empower youth in diverse fields of work by internationally accredited organizations and training centers. To do so, an introductory session was held with participation from directors of institutions, specialists and youth representatives from 11 orphanages from Cairo, Giza and Ismailia

The Skills Development Bank has an exclusive partnership with UK's leading certification body (City & Guilds) to support capacity building and infrastructure development for the technical education and training system in accordance with international standards.

Authorised Representative

Ghabbour Foundation for Development

The Ghabbour Foundation for Development is interested in the development of secondary vocational education schools in Egypt by means of applying the dual German teaching method. This is aimed at reducing the gap between the requirements of the labor market and the skill set of graduates of vocational education schools. The collaboration with Ghabbour Foundation aimed at providing scholarships in the vocational education schools of the Ghabbour Foundation for youth without parental care. Two scholarships were provided in 2019.

Monitoring and Evaluation

Development of the Monitoring and Evaluation system in the alternative care sector

The goal contributes to achieving Sustainable Development Goals

Collaboration with the Ministry of Social Solidarity

With children's best interest in mind, Wataneya cooperates with the Ministry of Social Solidarity on more than one front. In 2019:

Alternative families and the procedural manual for the "kafala" system

In cooperation with the Face Foundation, Wataneya has undertaken the development of the procedural manual for the "kafala" system, which has been discussed and endorsed by the Ministry of Social Solidarity to be introduced through the High Committee of Alternative Families in the Ministry as a guiding manual for alternative families (kafala).

The pilot phase of actively utilizing the manual begins in January 2020 by training the directorates of 4 governorates (Giza, Alexandria, Elsharkia and Assiut).

Evaluation and follow-up program

Through the AmanAmaan Center for Learning and Development, Wataneya provided a program to build the capacity of the ministry's follow-up and evaluation officers. This program aims to enhance the quality standards of institutional homes while unifying different concepts and points of view in different interventions in light of the quality standards of alternative care.

The capacity of

cadres in the Ministry of Social Solidarity has been built

Training for report writing

Amaan Center for Learning and Development provided this training in order to build the capacity of the ministry's cadres to apply reporting techniques according to the quality of the required report.

The training included identifying types of reports, stages of reporting, techniques for report writing, how to avoid making mistakes, and the ethics to be considered when writing reports.

The capacity of 24

cadres in the Ministry of Social Solidarity has been built

Community Engagement

Collaborating with different sectors of society and establishing multiple partnerships to support the children/youth without parental care cause

The goal contributes to achieving Sustainable Development Goals

The most important activities toward activating the role of the society in 2019

Collaboration with almentor.net click, watch & learn

Wataneya has collaborated with the AlMentor online platform in order to raise public awareness of the issue of children/youth without parental care. This is in addition to teaching the etiquette of visiting orphanages through two video presentations created by Nahla al-Nmer, senior specialist in institutional development in Wataneya and a care leaver.

Participating in the Organization of World Cooking Day with Nestlé

Wataneya cooperated with Nestle Egypt to organize an awareness day, International Cooking Day, for 29 children at Makqar Farm. The theme was the importance of healthy eating and the effect of proper nutrition on parts of the body.

Raising awareness about the etiquette of visiting orphanages for more than 100 volunteers including:

Students from: American University, Al-Hayat International School, and Helwan University, faculty of Social Service. This in addition to scattered workshops for groups of some volunteers

Entertainment – Education Day on International Children’s Day with American University

A workshop was held to introduce the child’s right to education, health and protection for more than 40 children from orphanages. This was a part of an entertainment day organized by students of the American University on the occasion of the International Children’s Day.

Cooperation with Al-Hayat School students to raise the efficiency of orphanages

Students and officials from al-Hayat School have been linked with three institutional homes with the aim providing recreational and educational activities in various fields of sports, music and languages. This is in addition to providing school supplies and simple restoration work.

Empowering children to cope with bullying in schools

A group of American University students from the Department of Psychology were linked with an institutional home in order to provide three educational sessions on bullying for 15 children. In these sessions, children learned about the definition of bullying and how to deal with similar behaviors.

Raising awareness of hidden disabilities and their impact on children

Cooperation with the Department of Psychology at the American University in order to organize a seminar titled “Hidden Disabilities”, delivered by Dr. Iman Gad, Dean of the Faculty of Education - British University in Dubai, and expert on special education and social integration. During the seminar, Dr. Gad talked about the need to pay attention to, and raise awareness of, disabilities that may not seem obvious to non-specialists. She also discussed the impact of these disabilities on the lives of children and youth, especially those at risk due to health and living conditions.

Participating in conferences

Wataneya participates in professional conferences to learn about the latest experiences and practices in areas such as community psychology and child/youth care. Besides, Wataneya also participates in such conferences in order to present its best practices in various projects related to the care and protection of children without parental care.

Wataneya presented its experiences through the following conferences:

International Conference on Comparative Education - CIES 2019 - San Francisco City

Wataneya presented a poster: "Assessing the course of "Hamzat Wasl" professional program and its impact on the sustainability of the quality of care provided to children without parental care"

Community Psychology Conference - SCRA 17th Biennial Conference - City of Chicago

Wataneya presented a poster on a protection program: "Protecting them is Our Responsibility" "Hemayatehom Maso'olyatina" in which it develops a toolkit for a program specializing in the protection of children in institutional homes in order to create a culture that supports the concept of child protection.

Regional Employment Conference for Universities and Employers - American University

Wataneya shared its experience in integrating care home leavers in the employment market. This took place at the Regional Employment Conference for Universities and Employers, which was organized by the Professional Consultancy Center of the American University in Cairo.

International Conference on The Care of Children/Youth and the National Union of child/ youth care workers – Durban City

Wataneya presented a study on the evaluation of the results of the Sanad project "to apply alternative care quality in institutional homes" with the support of the Drosos Foundation. The study identified the most important lessons learned from the evaluation of the most and the least successful institutional homes.

Volunteer Acknowledgment

Wataneya thanks and appreciates all those who have contributed their time and effort to contribute to the provision of a decent life for orphans through volunteering with knowledge and experience.
